Educational goals and characteristics	The fellowship is principally concerned with the teaching of orthopaedic aspects of shoulder, elbow and knee surgery. Experience in this area includes arthroscopic reconstruction and joint replacement. The fellowship involves working at St Lukes Care Hospital Sydney, Strathfield Private Hospital, Norwest Private Hospital, Sydney South West Private Hospital and Campbelltown Private Hospital with other orthopaedic surgeons and related disciplines. The fellowship also involves work at Bankstown Hospital (public hospital), attending department x-ray and clinical meetings, outpatient work, journal clubs, preparation for operations, and, with assistance, consulting at orthoclinic. The fellow develops surgical experience through private assisting and supervised operating. The fellow develops full responsibility for surgery at approximately one operating list per fortnight. The fellow is exposed to approximately 20 surgical procedures per week. Research is an integral part of the fellowship and clinical based research projects are ongoing at the clinic. Prospective applicants should aspire to sub-specialist shoulder, elbow and knee surgery.
Requirements/	Applicants must have completed their training in orthopaedic surgery. Applicants must criteria	hold or be eligible to hold a current certificate of registration to practice medicine in the state of New South Wales, Australia. Applicants must provide their own medical practice indemnity insurance. As this is a clinical fellowship, good internship skill and English language are required. IELTS pass of 7 in all four components is mandatory.

How to Apply	Applications, including a current curriculum vitae and the names and email addresses of three referees should be sent to: Tegan Craig Practice Manager Orthopaedic Clinic Sydney Suite 1606/ 109 Pitt St Sydney NSW 2000 info@orthoclinic.com.au
